Annual gala raises $90K for FBH

DAYTONA BEACH – More than 250 people attended the Pearls of Hope Gala II Oct. 23 that raised more than $90,000 through sponsorships, ticket sales and auctions, to benefit the students served by Food Brings Hope.

Donated goods and services from local businesses and groups, including art and photography by DeLand High School students, were incorporated into the live and silent auctions. “Kids Helping Kids” was a special project brought to Food Brings Hope by DeLand High School art teacher Peggy Banks and her AP Art students.

The presenting sponsor for the second year in a row was Holland Financial. Other event sponsors included the Burke & Cox families, Giles Electric, ICI Homes, Lesa France Kennedy, Jon Hall/Ritchey Automotive Group and Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University.

happy to support the students’ art and the cause behind it,” said FBH Executive Director Judi Winch. “The focus of the evening was to shed light on the brilliant young minds throughout our community and how we can help them flourish.”

Food Brings Hope provides an array of enrichment opportunities for underprivileged students through their programs,

KidsZone, TeenZone and FBHonsors. The nonprofit provides a network of care for seniors in high school who are homeless and unaccompanied through the Eric Christopher DeVriese, Jr. HOPE House. FBH partners with Halifax Urban Ministries to deliver weekly food bags to the neediest families. This year, FBH has partnered with the Barbara Bush Literacy Foundation to provide literacy programs for both adults and children in the Pierson community.

“Funds raised from the Pearls of Hope Gala are vital in ensuring that the students FBH serves attain every opportunity possible to reach their full potential,” said Forough B. Hosseini, FBH founder and chair. “We are very appreciative of the caring individuals and companies who have supported us for over seven years. It is through the community’s support that we have been able to expand our program to include more schools serving even more homeless students this year. At FBH, we aim to eventually expand our programs to reach every homeless student enrolled in Volusia County Schools.”

Currently, Food Brings Hope has partnered with 15 schools throughout Volusia County, serving more than 800 students, with the goal to include all schools throughout the district and beyond.

The pink section included profiles of breast cancer survivors, health features and coverage of the Making Strides walk in downtown Daytona Beach that attracted 11,000 participants on Oct. 31.

Offill, who was the chairman of the walk in 2014, said breast cancer is an issue that “screams out” for attention.

“You can’t talk to anybody who doesn’t know somebody who has had their life altered (by the disease),” Offill said.

Leslie Castillo, the senior market manager for community engagement for the American Cancer Society, said donations for the 2015 campaign are “still rolling in” but she expects to meet their goal of raising $375,000 for research and local services.
