DAYTONA BEACH, March 9, 2015 – Food Brings Hope was among several Daytona Beach area organizations that was selected to receive the 2015 Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune Community Engagement Award on March 1st on the campus of Bethune-Cookman University.

The Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune Community Engagement Award was given to outstanding organizations that exhibited an unwavering dedication to improving the community.

“This extraordinary group has displayed a high level of commitment to progression and humanity,” expressed B-CU President Edison O. Jackson. “It is our honor to recognize them as pillars in our community.”

The award was presented at Mary’s Gift, a tribute to Dr. Bethune for her gift of service to the community. At the awarding, B-CU President Dr. Edison O. Jackson presented his vision for B-CU and the university’s plans to be more involved within the community.

“Food Brings Hope is so honored to be selected for this prestigious community award,” expressed FBH founder and chair Forough Hosseini. “We are delighted to be recognized by fellow community-minded institutions who work alongside us to see that all students reached their fullest potential.”
